

Michael Mariotte.

Executive Director and chief spokesperson for Nuclear Information & Resource Service (NIRS)

Michael Mariotte has led the organization for 20 years making numerous television appearances and has been widely quoted in the press. He has testified in the United States Senate and before the U.S. House of Representatives on radioactive waste transportation; radioactive metals “recycling;” the future of the nuclear power industry; “one-step” reactor licensing and other issues. He is a graduate of Antioch College.